

SUMMER SCHOOL ON DEVELOPMENT & SOCIAL CHANGE

The Govind Ballabh Pant Social Science Institute offers a compendious summer school programme. This summer school offers One Week Certificate Course on 4 major themes of vital importance for studies in development and social change. The course will impart training and guidance by its eminent faculties as well as renowned academicians from different prestigious institutions of the country. The course will follow an Online Mode.

Objectives

The cardinal objective of the summer school plan is to comprehend the trajectory of development and social change. Our society has been witnessing several evolutionary as well as revolutionary changes, as a research institute, it is our mandate to familiarize society and the agents of social change with these multi-dimensional developments. Keeping this in mind, these summer school courses offer conceptual as well as quantitative tools to capture these new changes.

- These workshops offer different modules that can be chosen by the participants based on their areas of interest.
- Participants can also enroll themselves in a new theme to broaden their knowledge based on micro as well as macro-level analysis both are required to observe a phenomenon.
